

FIVE WITNESSES TOLD COURT MAURER KILLED

Testified Russell and Brother Staged Him

Russell Scott's fight was strenuously opposed by five witnesses. Assistant Attorney George E. Gorman, who represented the state in its case against Scott, left for doubt as to his guilt, and Judge Lynch, before whom he was tried, announced emphatically that Scott should be held in the good of the community.

The state's five witnesses that Russell and Robert Scott, the City Hall pharmacy men, had revolvers on the night Maurice was shot and killed. That was a last April.

The witnesses testified that the menaced the employees and present with their guns and them all into the basement. The witnesses said, the two men in the group and robbed them.

Russell Gave Orders

This done, Russell Scott's brother Robert to go up to the floor of the drug store with him to get the money out of the till.

Robert went up the stairs Maurer while Russell remained guarding those who remained.

Only a few minutes passing to the witnesses, when they heard the sound of feet. They went up into the store to find Maurer lying on the floor.

Police Find Revolver

The police were called, a Maurer's body was turned over nickel plated revolver which Scott had used in the holdup to the witnesses, was found Maurer's body, with no bullet charged.

In the basement of the hotel according to State's Attorney Russell Scott's overcoat was found it was the watch and chain proprietor, taken from him the key to a room in the hotel.

Detectives went to the hotel, the room, and learned from arrangement it was held in the room. Robert Scott. They learned telephone call had been made from a west side number tracing this down arrested Scott at the home of a girl he had met after the robbery.

Russell Had Gun After

The blue steel revolver witnesses told the police Russell carried in the holdup was in Russell's pocket. Three shots discharged from it, and a responding to those remaining gun was dug out of Maurer's body disappeared better.

Russell Scott confessed to drug store holdups and when first arraigned for the killing of Maurer before Judge William L. Lindsay, he pleaded guilty. When it appeared that Judge would sentence him to hard labor, his attorney, Mr. Walter Johnson, pleaded to withdraw his plea, and asked that Scott be tried by jury.

Judge Lindsay granted the plea; Scott was placed on trial in Judge Lynch's court.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE

JUDGE DAVID'S ORDER THAT HALTED HANGING OF RUSSELL SCOTT

an intense, silent excitement prevailing among them.

Along the street and in the corridors of the County building flashlight boomed, lending color to the proceeding.

Judge David warned the photographers that no flashlights were to be taken in his courtroom. One bold cameraman violated this order and at once was fined $25 for contempt.

Court was opened on the arrival of Attorney Stewart at exactly 2 o'clock in the morning.

Attorney Stewart stepped forward to present his petition. In the chair behind him sat the silver-haired old father of Scott.

Lawyer Presents Plea.

"Your honor," said Stewart, "we have here a petition signed by Thomas Scott, father of the condemned man. The petition sets up that since sentence was passed, Russell Scott has become insane, and we ask your honor to stay his execution, set for today, until the question of his sanity may be determined."

The lawyer then started to read the humdrum legal phrasology of the petition.

The petition set forth that the date of the hanging had twice been deferred by executive clemency, and that Russell Scott has become insane and that he is so to the extent that he is now unable to comprehend his present predicament.

Refusal to Broadcast Cited.

Scott's refusal earlier in the evening to make an appeal for himself over the radio was set out as an evidence of his insanity. It stated further that the son had told his father that he needed no radio because he knew the governor would protect him.

Next Scott's use of drugs was given as a reason for his alleged insanity. It was stated that he had formerly been a heavy user of drugs and that the sudden and continued withdrawal of the drugs had had a ravishing effect on his mind.

Refuses Efforts to Find Judge.

The appointment of lawyers to defend Scott by the court also was set forth as having a possible bearing on his condition and a reason for a stay of execution, and Stewart then added:

"Your honor, we didn't get into this case until 11 o'clock this evening, and we tried at once to locate Judge Lynch, the trial judge, but we failed.

"We therefore pray your honor that you will sit in this hearing in view of the great emergency that confronts the defendant."

Stewart handed the petition over to Judge David. The jurist appeared to be angered at having the emergency put up to him.

"Where is the state's attorney?" Judge David asked. "Is the state's attorney here? Has he been notified?"

Stewart then explained he had been unable to locate Prosecutor Gorman.

Unable to Find Gorman.

"I tried to find Mr. Gorman, your honor," Stewart said. "I called his home, but got no answer."

"Where does he live?" the judge demanded. And Stewart replied: "Away out south, your honor."

Meantime Judge David was reading over the petition. He looked inquiringly across the bench at the lawyer again.

"What was the idea, Mr. Stewart?" he said, "of putting in all this matter with reference to the use of drugs? The defendant is insane or he isn't. What have the drugs to do with it?"

Stewart did not reply.

"Have you tried to find Judge Lynch?" the court asked then. Stewart said they had. He said Mrs. Lynch had told him Judge Lynch was "out."

"Out?" repeated Judge David. "Out where?"

"I don't know, your honor," Attorney Stewart replied. "Mrs. Lynch could not tell me."

Orders Petition Filed.

Judge David now turned to the clerk. He handed across the petition. There was expectancy when he said:

"Let this petition be filed."

And Judge David demanded:

"A week from when? A week from when?"

Again Stewart hesitated just for a moment: "Why?" he said, after a short space. "why—a week from Monday? Of course, we would like to have more time but if your honor insists."

Judge David mentioned the Carl Wanderer case. Wanderer also was given an insanity trial in one case, but later, in another, was found guilty, sentenced to death, and hanged.

Discusses Wanderer Case.

The Wanderer case was discussed pro and con for a moment. It was decided that it took two weeks to try it. Stewart also was the counsel in it. There was another moment's discussion of it and then Judge David suddenly turned to his clerk.

"Let the order be entered," he said. It was exactly 7 minutes after 11—seven minutes after the hearing had opened.

"Make it—O, make it indefinite," Judge David added.

And so Scott, twice before reprieved, was given another "indefinite" lease on life.

Scott Says He's Glad.

When newspaper men hurried to the jail upon learning of Judge David's order they were for the first time the night admitted to where Scott was waiting for the hour of execuhis vaudeville days were over. He flew into a rage. He said if the governor wouldn't send the last pangs of his wife and attorneys he could take the condemned.

"If I can't be let alone in my last hours I'll raise hell," he shouted.

Then a letter was sent in to him renewing the suggestion that he speak over the newspaper's radio.

He turned this letter over and on the back of it he wrote:

"At this hour I would not kneel to anybody. Even if the governor were to walk into my death cell now I would not get down on my knees and beg for mercy. I want to forget the bitterness that has been done to me. The crime I am to hang for in the beginning in the name of the law of the state of Illinois. I only pray for the people I am leaving and who once loved me."

Starts for Chicago.

After the governor's decision was announced, Mrs. Scott remained for a time in Springfield. She returned to Quincy to quit when the governor declined to interfere and tried in vain to get in touch with Gov. Keyes. Scott played the part of a man who had been convicted on circumstantial evidence of murder, who before his execution broke jail and went to the governor's house. His facial expression last night was less cheerful than his words.

"I'm doing everything I can for you, son," the father said as the doomed man arose from his bunk. "I'm still a man. I'm still a man. I'm still a man for you and we still hope. We've got Attorney William Scott Stewart fighting with us now. I'm going out now to see some more people."

The visit lasted only five minutes.

Father and son parted, without a handshake, without saying good-by.

"Do you want me to fall dead here in the street?" the elder Scott protested when people outside the wild session in the basement of the store—that there was no attempt at holdup that night.

Mr. Kettles said a man named Conidine, living at the Ambassador hotel, would testify that the drug store scene of the killing was a place of nightly carousals.

Kettles outlined his theory of the killing. The Scott brothers had gone into the drug store on the fatal night for a "part." For this they were in the basement drinking. Then Robert went upstairs to adjust a claim with the manager. Robert shot and killed Maurer.

Then, he said, both Scotts ran up the stairs and out of the store. As they ran Robert turned to his brother. He handed Russell the revolver, and this accounted for Russell having the knife when he was arrested the next morning.

Russell Scott got Robert Scott and his wife out of Chicago that night, the lawyer continued. Russell put his brother and brother's wife on a train. He said neither Robert nor his wife had been seen since that night.

Wife Pleads with Small.

When the lawyer was through Mrs. Scott arose to plead with the governor. The hollow-eyed young woman who has fought so unremittingly for Scott's life swayed at first unsteadily on her feet. She tried several times to say something.

"At last she managed to murmur: "I—I know—that he is not guilty."

She looked down at the governor. The governor turned his eyes away; it was hard to look at her suffering. She tried to speak, but tears gushed out of her eyes and down her cheeks and in a moment she had completely broken down. She was unable to speak.

She played detective and last night Mace rushed up to Policeman Charles Tetlaff at Clark and Madison streets and asked him to arrest a pair of men crossing the street.

FIVE WITNESSES TOLD COURT OF MAURER KILLING

Testified Russell and His Brother Staged Holdup.

Russell Scott's fight for clemency was strenuously opposed by the state from the beginning. Assistant State's Attorney George E. Gorman, who prosecuted the case, has repeatedly said the state's case against Scott left no room for doubt as to his guilt, and yesterday John Lynch, before whom the case was tried, announced emphatically his belief that Scott should be hanged for the good of the community.

The state's five witnesses testified that Russell and Robert Scott entered the City Hall pharmacy with drawn revolvers on the night Maurer was shot and killed. That was a year ago last April.

The witnesses testified the brothers menaced the employees and patrons present with their guns and herded them all into the basement. There, the witnesses said, the two men lined up the group and robbed them of their belongings.

Russell Gave Orders.

This done, Russell Scott told his brother Robert to go up to the main floor of the drug store with Maurer to "get the money out of the till."

Robert went up the stairs with Maurer while Russell remained below, guarding those who remained in the basement. Only a few minutes passed, according to the witnesses, when a scuffle was heard upstairs. Russell Scott warned all those below to remain there, then ran up the stairs.

Suddenly three shots were heard. Those below waited a few minutes and then heard the sound of running feet. They went up into the drug store to find Maurer lying dead on the floor.

Police Find Revolver.

The police were called, and when Maurer's body was turned over the nickel plated revolver which Robert Scott used in the holdup, according to the witnesses, was found under Maurer's body, with no bullets discharged.

In the basement of the store, according to State's Attorney Gorman, Russell Scott's overcoat was found. In it was the watch and chain of the proprietor, taken from him earlier, and the key to a room in the Brevoort Hotel.

Detectives went to the hotel, searched its room, and learned from the management it was held in the name of Robert Scott. They learned the money on the floor had been made to the man from a west side number, and tracing this down arrested Russell Scott at the home of a girl he had seen but with after the robbery.

Russell Had Gun Afterwards.

The blue steel revolver which the witnesses told the police Russell Scott carried in the holdup was found in Russell's pocket. Three shots had been discharged from it, and a bullet corresponding to those remaining in the gun was dug out of Maurer's body. Robert Scott disappeared and has never been found.

Russell Scott confessed to a dozen drug holdups and when he was first arraigned for the murder of Maurer he was given William J. Lindsay as his plighted guilty. When Lindsay would sentence him to hang in spite of his plea, Attorney Walter T. Stanton offered to withdraw the plea of guilty, and asked that Scott be given a trial by jury.

Judge Lindsay granted the lawyer's plea; Scott was placed on trial before a jury in Judge Lynch's court and was found guilty and condemned to death.

FALL FROM WINDOW FATAL.

John A. McGlynn, 52, of 4747 Sheridan road, was washing a window in his home when he slipped and fell to the ground. He died a short time later at the Lakeside hospital.

LEADER OF DRY SLEUTHS HERE INDICTED BY U.S.

Owen and Stone and Five Others Named.

True bills naming Prohibition Director Percy Owen, former Director Ralph Stone, Harry R. Schlu, alleged fixer and collector; Louis Abelson, two for not prohibition agents, and one other whose identity was kept secret, were voted yesterday by the federal grand jury.

Charges against the men are the outgrowth of a year's investigation of the sacramental wine scandal in which the total graft is said to have exceeded $100,000 in less than eleven months. More than $20,000 graft is reported to be involved in the specific cases dealt with in the current true bills, which are expected to be returned tomorrow as indictments as parts of a series.

Voting of the bills has been predicted for many months.

Simultaneously with the announcement that the true bills had been submitted to the jury, it became known that Patrick T. Roche, special agent of the intelligence unit, had gone to Washington to review the wine scandal before Lincoln C. Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement.

Roche Forges Chain.

It was through the activity of Agent Roche that the chain connecting federal higher ups with the so-called small fry of the wine racket was linked together. Maj. Owen is now named as one of the oft-mentioned higher-ups.

Stone, now a lawyer with a reported practice among alleged干杯者, is charged with having been a collector among the scores of sacramental wine dealers who maintained graft in virtually every section of Chicago until the government revealed the realistic claims of the dealers to be border ruses.

Abelson and Schlu also are accused of being active as collectors. Schlu, frequently a companion of Owen's until several months ago, is described by Roche as the "Link that connected Owen with the payoffs."

Dry Agents Hit Anew.

The two former agents named are Bernard Rumpf and Albert Bennett, who have been the leading figures in every batch of indictments turned out in the wine cases during the last eight months. They were found guilty under a host of charges of giving and receiving a standing pat on the other indictments until three weeks ago. At that time they threw their alleged accomplices into a veritable panic by pleading guilty to a group of indictments. The word rapidly spread that they at last had talked.

Maj. Owen withheld formal statements pending return of indictments.

PICKPOCKET TAKES $75.

M. Burke, 4740 Indiana avenue, was leaving a surface car at 47th street and Indiana avenue when he was stopped and robbed of him. He reported to the Wabash avenue police that his loss was $75 and a card of the pensioner union.

HOLD 2 YOUTHS FOR DROWNING OF GIRLS IN AUTO

County's Auto Toll Raised to 411.

Indictment for manslaughter was recommended for two youths by a coroner's jury last night after it had investigated the deaths of two girls who were drowned in the Calumet canal at 112th street and Keene avenue.

The girls were drowned when the automobile in which they were riding with the young man plunged into water.

The boys saved themselves. They were riding with the young man in the automobile, without lights, when it swerved from the road at a curve and dived into the canal.

The girls were trapped, but the youths reached the surface and swam to the bank.

THEODORE SAMUELSON.

Frank Ketchik, 16 East 118th street, and Charles Matusek, 10643 Stevenson avenue average each 21 years old, rented a car and drove to 21st Marquette and Joseph Stone, 339 East Marquette road. Joseph and Vaughn, according to the police, are ex-convicts.

A large automobile owned by Joseph was found in front of the Porter woman's home by Sergts. Oates and O'Brien at daybreak. In it were four pistols.

ARREST WOMAN, 3 MEN; REGAIN $5,000 IN LOOT

Oriental rug, furs, jewelry, and silk valued at more than $5,000 were recovered by the Woodlawn police yesterday after the arrest of three men and a woman in connection with burglaries.

The prisoners, all of whom refused to talk, are Mrs. Hattie Porter, 819 East Pershing road; Herbert Vaughn, 414 West Madison street; William Joseph, 938 East Marquette road; and Joseph Stone, 339 East Marquette road. Joseph and Vaughn, according to the police, are ex-convicts.

According to the owners, the strikers are not affiliated with any labor union. They made a demand for a substantial wage increase, and when the employers asked for time to consider the request the men quit work.

Other drivers were hired, and when they drove out of the various yards the strikers are alleged to have assaulted them with bricks and clubs.

Outbreaks were reported at the Burlington railway yards at 95th street and at 14th street and the river.

Three Persons Killed.

Four persons were victims of automobile accidents in the city yesterday. Motor deaths now number 411 for the 204 days of this year.

Theodore Samuelson, 85 years old, 826 Fletcher street, was killed almost instantly when he was struck by an automobile as he was crossing Sheridan road near Belmont avenue. Fred Scharleau, 4806 West Lake street, driver of the car, is being held by the police.

Mr. Henry Affag, 65 years old, 5413 Broadway, died at her home of injuries received July 12 when she was struck by an automobile while walking from a street car at Broadway and Ridge avenue. Police arrested Roy Emerson, 4237 Kenmore avenue, driver of the automobile.

Injuries Fatal to Waiter.

Felix Dlugiewicz, 55 years old, a waiter, died of injuries received in an auto mishap several days ago at 55th street and Indiana avenue.

Attempting to pass a street car at Ashland avenue and 60th street last night, an unidentified man about 30 years old was thrown from the motorcycle he was riding when the machine swerved into the car. His skull was fractured and he died a short time later. No clew to the man's identity was found in his clothing.

ON AND OFF THE HONOR FARM.

The city council has passed a resolution protesting against the lax confinement of prisoners sent to the penitentiary, convicted of murder, rape, and robbery with guns. These criminals are hard to convict and when the state takes charge of them to give them their punishment they are received into the embrace of a pink eyed sentimentalism which induces the working of such justice as can be had here.

Ten murderers have walked away from the Joliet penitentiary honor farm. Day by day enough new murderers are loose in Chicago without having a return of the old ones. They beat the ropes and then they walk out of the penitentiary to freedom and fresh activities.

The council does not ask that they be treated barbarously, but that they be confined and kept from coming back on their own hook. Enough of the criminals will come back through the pardon and parole system. You can't keep a bad man down. Not in this state. It is the howling absurdity of the times. The net of justice is used to enmesh all the agents by which protection of life and property is supposed to be had.

THE NEW UNION STATION.

The opening of the new Union station marks another step forward for Chicago. The old station, grand in its day, had become an eye sore and an offence to the self-respect of the city, as well as a source of discomfort to the patrons of the railroads using this depot. But all that will be forgiven and forgotten, if as we hope, the completion of this modern terminal means that it represents a policy of alert and vigorous progressiveness and public spirit. Chicago, the world's greatest railroad center, the second city in population of the United States, the fifth or fourth of the world, and vital heart of a rapidly growing industrial region as well as the metropolis of the agricultural west, deserves the best a forward looking, broad visioned policy can give it. The city is still in the making, the region of which it is the nerve center is but in the making, and every railroad can help to its own and the whole country's advantage by keeping its service in the forefront of our advance.

The Pennsylvania, Burlington, St. Paul and Dayton railways are to be congratulated on the new station. It does them credit and sets a high example for other roads still to bring their terminals up to modern conditions and the just demands of Chicago.

The modernization of stations, we trust, will be followed soon with modernization of power, by electrification. In this particular, Chicago is much too far behind the east.

LET US ALONE.

The secretary of agriculture, asked what the farmers want, replies: "To be left alone."

We heartily sympathize with that wish. There have been times when other industries have felt the same way. We suspect they do now and in fact that a very large proportion of our citizens do.

So perhaps, being almost unanimous, we may hope that we shall be, if not altogether, let alone, at least relieved, in considerable measure from the interventions of government and the dubious enterprise of legislative seal. We cannot hope for a complete cessation of law making. But perhaps, production can be cut down and we are waiting eagerly to crown the first legislator who will return to his grateful constituency, with the proud boast that his record is guiltless of new laws to govern us.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader of the senate, has declared for a substantial reduction of the surtax. This is an important gain for sound tax revision not only because Senator Robinson is one of the ablest members of the senate but because it gives promise of a change of policy in the Democratic organization.

When the present law was in the making Senator Robinson opposed the revision program of Secretary Mellon and the President and helped to force a compromise which was political and not scientific. We haven't any doubt Senator Robinson knew that the treasury recommendations were sounder than the ideas, prejudices, and interests which were expressed in congressional action. But we must assume that he could not put aside considerations of party tactics. An election was approaching and plausible fallacies likely to move voters doubtless seemed better ammunition than a revision of the law which could not prove its value until long after the electoral contest was won or lost.

It is a pity men of Senator Robinson's caliber feel constrained to make concessions of this kind, but they do, in both parties, and we can only hope, now the election is done with, that they will join in the task of working out a revision as free as possible of politics, partisanship, and class prejudices. We cannot say that the condition of the country is critical. On the contrary, business is on the whole fair, in some lines good, and the prospects of continued prosperity encouraging. But a sound tax revision would help a good deal. Relief is really needed and it must be got not merely by government retrenchments and tax reductions but by readjustments and revisions. This ought to be accomplished on nonpartisan, nonpolitical lines, so far as that is possible, and we trust Senator Robinson and other men of weight on both sides will work together for practical results rather than carry on a fencing match for points at the expense of American business.

MUSSOLINI AND THE BATHS OF CARACALLA.

One of the London papers discloses that there is an "occult" movement afoot to yank Mussolini out of his job as Supreme Boss of Italy. If we were Mr. Mussolini we wouldn't worry much about "occult" movements, particularly such ones as this which is said to have its springs in Moscow, Wall street, and intermediate points.

However, we don't expect Mr. Mussolini to take the advice because he seems to spend most of his time worrying about holding his job. After his Fascist army had seen to it that a majority of Fascists were elected to parliament the opposition walked out. Then Mussolini, who wasn't satisfied with that, fired half his cabinet and took over their jobs. Then he made his own boys in parliament vote him unlimited power. Even that wasn't enough. When he wasn't worried any more about either the parliamentary opposition or his own party he began to worry about the unofficial opposition; so he, as the cabinet, voted himself, as minister of justice, the interior and what not, the right to close up opposition newspapers and mouths. And still he's worried.

The moral seems to be that the age of dictators is past. Dictators in the old days justified themselves by getting things done. The citizenry was granted and let them go ahead. Nowadays the citizenry, trained in representative government and the rights of man, won't stay put and the dictators know it. Lenin and Mussolini, the outstanding examples, are seen spending most of their time maintaining themselves in office, and the business of governing has to be secondary. There is nothing "occult" about this. Theoretically, a dictator today ought to be as useful in accomplishing things as he ever was. Practically, Mussolini has been a good deal of a washout since he performed his one notable service, the suppression of the Reds.

There are plenty of monuments in Rome to the soundness of the dictatorial idea in government, but none of them, it need scarcely be added, bears the name of Mussolini. The forum is Trajan's and the baths are Caracalla's. Caracalla, by the way, was reigned for just six years, but when he died in 217, after murdering 20,000 members of the opposition, including his own brother, he had completed the arch of Septimus Severus in the forum and in sundry other ways had done a good deal for the old home town.

GRADE CROSSINGS, ETC.

President Cermak of the county board has called a conference on grade crossing protection. He says that recent fatal accidents have brought a crisis and that measures should be concerted at once to provide the public with better protection.

This seems to be in line with Tug Tsinglung's discussion the other day of present road conditions. The rapid increase in the distribution and use of automobiles has left our safety policy and conditions far behind. If we are to save innocent lives we must lose no time in bringing them up to present standards. The railroads, the electric lines, the public authorities, private owners of property, must be required to adopt safeguards not urgently required before the automobile. The elevation or depression of rights of way, safeguards at crossings, clearing of obstructions to view, and well considered regulations are now imperative. All the world travels nowadays, and the situation demands prompt and practical treatment.

POLICING THE CHICAGO AREA.

Chief Collins suggests that Chicago and the outlying towns and villages be hooked up with a police telephone system; just as the city police divisions and stations are hooked up, so that informants and police warnings and inquiries could be handled rapidly. Crime does not have municipal boundaries. This telephone connection of city and country would be good. Metropolitan police would be better.

Considering the record of violence and crime in this state it remains incredible that the legislature has not and seemingly will not establish state police. State police and city police could cooperate and make it most difficult for criminals to commit a crime in the country and dash into the city or the other way about. But politics and crime haven't much enmity and the legislature gives the crooked hard roads and denies the roads a police system.

The metropolitan area about Chicago which is directly interested with the city in crime conditions centering here might agree with the city to devise a police cooperation. To get metropolitan police in a real sense would require legislation. The legislature probably would be as opposed to such police as it is to state police.

Editorial of the Day

THE WHOLE TRUTH.

(Omaha World-Herald.)

A lie is defined by the small boy as "an abomination unto the Lord and a very present help in time of trouble." The psychologist says it is necessary to the maintenance of civilization. At least one psychologist says so and he elaborates his theme with reference to the form of falsehood which consists of trying to be pleased with those things which do not please us, merely for politeness' sake. He considers this form of untruthfulness of extreme importance as indicated in his conclusion:

We could not have a group of people, consequently no cities, towns or communities, if we told the truth all the time. We must tell lies. We have to be honest, but at times it is necessary for us to be for the welfare of the community.

The thing which the professor so bluntly refers to as lying passes under another name with the most of us. We call it courtesy, consideration of the feelings of others, the social amenities. Therein we are probably only adding self-deception to those social deceptions which make life so much more pleasant and comfortable. It is not only by courteous and cultured misstatements of our feelings that we indulge in lying, but also by keeping them bottled up, when the whole truth demands that we should let them loose. There probably is as much negative lying done as positive, maybe more. If we were one hundred per cent truthful, it is unlikely that many of us would ever get over the tantrums of our childhood.

Because Clarence Darrow was too honest in the expression of his opinions of the court he was required to face a charge of contempt for which Judge Rauholt had cited him. From which it becomes apparent that the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth in a court of law may turn out to be, instead of a commendable thing, a serious offense against the dignity of the state and its judicial servants.

How to Keep Well.
By Dr. W.A. Evans.

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, diet, prevention of disease, etc., matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Where space will not permit, or the subject is not suitable, letters will be personally answered, subject to proper limitations, and where a stamped addressed envelope is inclosed, Dr. Evans will not make a diagnosis, prescribe for individual diseases. SUMMER INSECTS.

R. J. BEQUAERT recommends the following procedure for various kinds of insects parasitic to man:

BED BUGS OR CHIGOE.

The most efficacious preventive is showers of sulphur sprinkled in the stockings when sleeping. He also recommends oil of cedar, rubbed on the skin, especially when profuse sweating washes sulphur from the skin.

Riley and Johansen are quoted as recommending a warm salt bath taken as soon as possible after exposure. To kill the mites already imbedded in the skin they recommend benzine sulphur ointment carbonized vaseline.

Wearing tightly fitting leggings and thorough cleaning of the body and clothing at night is recommended.

To relieve the irritation of the bite, Brumpt recommends 1 per cent carbolic vaseline. Grease, chlorform, or benzene can be used to make the tick turn loose and thus facilitate getting it away whole.

SAN FLYES.

Ordinary mosquito bait has a mesh that is fine enough to keep sand flies out. Dr. Bequaert recommends that people living in a sandy fly country sleep under an ordinary man will put up with a mixture of parafin and camphor, but it does not succeed overly well. Oil of tar or a mixture of kerosene and pennyroyal oil are more efficient, but few people will put up with their offensive qualities.

Wherever practicable, he advises the use of electric fans as the best method of keeping sand flies from entering open windows. Dr. Bequaert also recommends oil of cedar, rubbed on the skin, especially when sweating.

Subsequently I took a trip from Boston to Yarmouth and the sea was fairly rough. As I felt the same trouble coming on, I took the same remedy, which was as beneficial as before.

I might say that I am not exactly right at hand when we last expect it. I acknowledge that it takes some courage, and several people looked at me in amazement to see that I was able to drink so much salt water, but in this case I considered the remedy far better than the disease.

REPLIES.

I have an idea most people would find sea water salty tasting and disagreeable who are not accustomed to drinking it. Dr. Bequaert recommends that sea water be diluted. In seasickness, the wormlike motion of the stomach is working the wrong direction. Drinking a little salt water would stop this motion. But then there is the mental side. For a long time we have been accustomed to gagging when we think of drinking sea water: it is not easy to forget.

MOSQUITOES.

A properly screened house is an excellent means of protection against mosquitoes, especially for the members of the family who do not go out to work. But the screen must be No. 16 or No. 1 mesh, properly made, properly installed, and properly kept.

Dr. Bequaert says, is worse than one that is not screened, since the mosquitoes, having once got in, remain there. Mosquito bars on beds decks have found very effective.

Craig recommends spraying the walls and floor of the house and the clothing when life presses closely with its demand, or when you are not neglectful of sewing.

THE PEOPLE

200 or 300 words. Give full names turned. Address Voice of the People, the dinner which I gave to the "Aga."

I judge from your letter that you are younger than I am. I am a member, and probably I have seen things that you never dreamt of. I, personally, have no use for alcohol as you think; have, except as a medicine, but I do now and have seen that the young boys and girls of this country are going to the devil just as fast as they can since prohibition came in. The saloon was enough, God knows, but the cabaret and joy riding are a thousand times worse.

In the old days, when I was a boy, my dad said the worst drunkard on earth was the still drinker, who bought a bottle of "boose" and took it off by himself and got drunk. That was the old saying when I was a boy. Now, today the only way they can get a drink—those who wish it—is to buy a quart, or pint, and take it off and drink it by themselves.

In the saloon days they took a drink and passed on. Now they buy it by the quart or a pint and get drunk, and today the young boy who goes out a young girl on a "joy ride" is as bad as in his pocket and feeds it to the girl, and then the worse happens;

his same girl never would go to a saloon, but she will go into a saloon, and she will go on "joy ride". So I say, as I said in my speech, that the prohibition law is the most damnable that ever happened to this country, and I believe it firmly.

My father was a Congregationalist, and I had two uncles clergymen, and was destined, according to my parents, to be one myself; so you may know that I know something about the Bible and everything else of that nature.

With you would participate in the vote, if you would participate in the vote.

John talks today about "violence"—except those who they about the violation of the eighteenth amendment.

They do not talk at all about the violation of the fourteenth or fifteenth amendments, or the violation of any other amendment than the eighteenth.

I will be in Chicago until Thursday night, 5 p.m., and if you wish to make reply to this do so by that time; or I will be back a little later on and can reach at above address.

Please feel free to publish this letter, you wish to do so; certainly I shall publish it together with copy of your letter to me. Very truly yours,

George F. Bent.

INDIANAPOLIS PROTECTS HER CHILDREN.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 17.—I note an article in Voice of the People headed "Protecting School Children." It was greatest surprise to me, personally, note that your schoolhouses are not protected. In Indianapolis, every school building in the city, both old and new, is equipped with panic devices, and it is a source of great satisfaction to the parents of children to know that the schoolhouses are safe.

Unquestionably there has been a movement on the part of the people who are making these devices, in not bringing matter to your school authorities' attention, because surely the authorities in a school city like Chicago would not overlook equipping their schools, with a device of this character, if it were known to be true, and knew that it is done and can be had so handily.

Why do they retain two "Austin ave.?"

FASCISTS TAKE IRON MEASURES AGAINST REVOLT

Censor Hides Details of Amendola Attack.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service) (CHASCO). On the Swiss border, to stop the Fascist government had taken drastic measures throughout Italy to prevent a recurrence of an abortive revolution, such as followed the assassination of Deputy Matteotti, when the news spread throughout the country of the Fascist terror organization's attempt to assassinate Giovanni Amendola, leader of the opposition parties fighting for the restoration of democracy, liberty, and justice in Italy.

The first act of the Mussolini dictatorship was to suppress the news of the affair in all newspapers except Fascist organs. An order was issued to use only official communiques, and the editor was warned that they must not allow the public that the communique was official. All editions of the opposition newspapers throughout Italy containing details of the attempted assassination were suppressed.

Renewal of Terrorism.

The renewal of the Italian chicanerie, patterned after Bolshevik methods, reached its culmination in the attempt to murder Sig. Amendola, who occupies the same relation toward Premier Mussolini as the late Senator La Follette did towards President Coolidge.

The first event in the present trouble was the publication of a document by the five opposition parties signed by 10 members of parliament protesting against the Supreme court's decision in the case of Gen. De Boni, who was accused of being implicated in the Matteotti murder on account of lack of evidence.

The second event was a campaign in favor of terrorism by the secretary general of the Fascist party and Premier Mussolini's right hand man and probable successor, Sig. Farinacci, who is officially advancing the Fascists' enemies, toured Italy, demanding that Fascism find a means for ridding Italy of the signs of the documents.

Follows Disclosures.

The attempted assassination followed five days after the publication of the document, and three days after Farinacci advocated the resumption of terrorism.

The attempt to assassinate Sig. Amendola was carefully plotted by the Fascist chicanerie. Word that he had to Montecatini was sent to the Montecatini headquarters, so that thousands of Fascists stormed the hotel where the opposition leader was staying. After breaking down the doors, the Fascists forced their way into every room in the hotel, but before running Sig. Amendola succeeded in escaping in an automobile, while his secretary stayed behind to demand his release.

Overtake Amendola.

For six hours thousands of Fascists hurried to capture Sig. Amendola, but the government militia, which was entirely in the hands of the Fascists or terrorists, was afraid to drive them away. Likewise, when Fascists in automobiles began to pursue Sig. Amendola the police failed to stop them. Fifteen Fascists finally succeeded in overtaking Sig. Amendola's automobile. They stopped the chauffeur and attacked Sig. Amendola.

They kicked, beat, cut and pummeled their victim until they believed him dead.

Later Sig. Amendola's secretary arrived. Sig. Amendola was taken to a hospital, where he was found to be suffering from untold cuts and bruises and a slight fracture. The doctors said Sig. Amendola would recover, but the wound in his right eye is so serious that he probably will lose his sight.

Among those terrorized by the Fascists are the representatives of the foreign press, who cannot tell the truth about Italy without being expelled from the country.

Escape Hurt as "L" Cars Bump in Switching Yard

Two "L" switchmen, Henry Smith and Garret Holdiness, escaped injury yesterday when their cars collided, one turning partially over, in the elevated yards at the Laramie avenue terminal.

The dinner which I gave to the "Aga."

I judge from your letter that you are younger than I am. I am a member, and probably I have seen things that you never dreamt of. I, personally, have no use for alcohol as you think; have, except as a medicine, but I do now and have seen that the young boys and girls of this country are going to the devil just as fast as they can since prohibition came in. The saloon was enough, God knows, but the cabaret and joy riding are a thousand times worse.

In the old days, when I was a boy, my dad said the worst drunkard on earth was the still drinker, who bought a bottle of "boose" and took it off by himself and got drunk. That was the old saying when I was a boy. Now, today the only way they can get a drink—those who wish it—is to buy a quart, or pint, and take it off and drink it by themselves.

In the saloon days they took a drink and passed on. Now they buy it by the quart or a pint and get drunk, and today the young boy who goes out a young girl on a "joy ride" is as bad as in his pocket and feeds it to the girl, and then the worse happens;

his same girl never would go to a saloon, but she will go into a saloon, and she will go on "joy ride". So I say, as I said in my speech, that the prohibition law is the most damnable that ever happened to this country, and I believe it firmly.

My father was a Congregationalist, and I had two uncles clergymen, and was destined, according to my parents, to be one myself; so you may know that I know something about the Bible and everything else of that nature.

With you would participate in the vote, if you would participate in the vote.

John talks today about "violence"—except those who they about the violation of the eighteenth amendment.

They do not talk at all about the violation of the fourteenth or fifteenth amendments, or the violation of any other amendment than the eighteenth.

I will be in Chicago until Thursday night, 5 p.m., and if you wish to make reply to this do so by that time; or I will be back a little later on and can reach at above address.

Please feel free to publish this letter, you wish to do so; certainly I shall publish it together with copy of your letter to me. Very truly yours,

George F. Bent.

Lighter Music Fills the Air; Pleases Elmer

With Reservations About
One Soprano.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

The dials were turned back and forth last night in a restless search for the great, but the really great was sought in vain.

Rex and his Cornhuskers, which the radio audience readily will recognize as WLS's particular orchestra, opened the curtain for this auditor at 7:30 with selections from "The Student Prince," realistically played.

The most sensational program was a vocal recital by The Georgie tenor, and Pauline Peebles, pianist, at WEBH, 7:30. Mr. Georgie's Higher glowering group of songs made a greater appeal than his earlier and more dramatic selections. Miss Peebles' selections included the first movement of MacDowell's "Sonata Tragique" and several lighter selections by other modern composers.

One should get really serious over a piano recital at WLS, at 8, by Elta Blomstein, but in keeping with the evening's introduction, it failed to draw a息ion. From WLS, 8:30, William Haynes, tenor, with a fine voice began singing "Moonlight and Roses" from W-G-N, 8:34, the same song was sung in duet by Mildred Bradford, soprano, and Carl Craven, tenor. From WBCN, 8:35, the same song was less kindly treated by a soprano who evidently liked to "spoon" her songs.

What a comparison to turn to KYW at 9 and hear the glorious full-toned soprano voice of Marie Deneaprova as she sang a group of Russian songs, imbuing them with seriousness unattainable by other than really great singers.

Back to W-G-N and Charles Hutzler. Here is a pure, deep bass voice that women may admire and men both envy and admire. And Carl Craven, whose fine tenor voice and intelligent use wins added respect at every hearing.

Just for devilment, back to WBCN—no, it turned out to be WENR, in a group of organ numbers from the Colonial theater. Very good. Will return for more like that on another night.

Outside reception excellent last night. WEAF, New York, heard direct; WHAS, Louisville, WSAI, Cincinnati, and KDKA, each very clear.

Back to Chicago for a group of harmony duets at WQJ, 10:30, by two new radio singers, Bebe and Bette. Absolute harmony singers these, and founders of Daws and Pratt of WMAG and Ford and Glenn of WLS. Welcome to our city.

FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH DISCOVERED

Why Dynell Water is relieving suffering humanity of scores of different ailments. Here's the reason—Too much acid in the system causes forty different diseases. ANSWER —DYNELL WATER NEUTRALIZES ACID.

C. A. COEY, Who Discovered the Famous Dynell Spring

Nothing could be more fitting than for Mr. Coey to have discovered this new famous "Fountain of Youth". As a discoverer and trail blazer he holds several world records.

He probably needs no introduction to have shot a wild buffalo within the confines of Cook County. When the wild bull buffalo broke from the preserve he led the hunt and ended its career. He built the first garage, operated the first taxi company, won the first 24 hour auto race; owned the largest balloon in the world; was the first to be married in a balloon; was first to cross Lake Michigan in a balloon.

He completed this remarkable chain of trail blazing victories by discovering Dynell Spring, the only water of its kind known.

DRINK ALL YOU WANT FREE

Mr. Coey would like to see every sufferer from disease come out to the springs and fill up on this wonder water, absolutely free.

Hundreds of enthusiastic letters from Chicago's prominent men and women prove conclusively that this water has medicinal value especially unique and you drink it exactly as Mother Nature made it—the most valuable solution of the human body's actual needs that has thus far been discovered anywhere in the world. And, therefore, you are urged in earnest to drink the water and the water only—water. For Dynell Water cannot fail to bring you back to health. It cannot fail to help you no matter what your trouble may be. All good doctors now recommend Dynell Spring Water.

CITIES NEED GULF WATER TO BRING IT

Joy Morton Says Would Aid Railroads

Within a few years the mills at the lower end of Lake Michigan may face a shortage of coal. That calamity will be avoided if the Lakes-Gulf waterway becomes reality.

This was one of the telling points made yesterday in an interview with Joy Morton, head of the Morton Salt company, a lifelong advocate of giving Chicago an outlet to the sea and now one of the big factors in the movement to concentrate all available shipping traffic within the single valley route within the year.

In most of the discussions men engaged in Chicago metropolitan area has been centered on outbound, but Mr. Morton brought up the opening promised by a way to the gulf to tremendous port traffic.

Pittsburgh More Far Slower

"I think Pittsburgh is closer to the future than Chicago," said Mr. Morton. "There is a tremendous increase in the Pittsburgh district in too years and that business is rapidly.

"Iron ore supplies in Alpena are not great, but great Minnesota. Perhaps Pittsburgh may figure in supplying supply of Lake Superior ore to Alabama from the south.

One of the estimates made by the timber kings hold a only thirty years, while the field will last 150 years.

"I don't advocate this or that," said Mr. Morton, "merely as a suggestion to the railroad authorities. I believe, we'll be glad particularly if the government continues to starve the railroads, halting and curtailing their increasing expenses or operating taxes.

Edited to Overseas Trade

"The completion of the gulf project will give us year-round water highway to the ocean sea" and we need it. Our trade is more closely knit. Our should be given up the southern seas as well as Gulf of St. Lawrence. Our continue to grow as the count-

1 YANK SLAIN BY CHINESE; OTHER IS STILL HELD

U. S. to Seek Punishment of Bandits.

HARBIN, Manchuria, July 23.—(AP)—While assisting the inhabitants of a village near his ranch on the Sungari river to repulse an attack of brigands on July 20, Morgan Palmer, a native of the state of New York, but long a resident of the far east, was killed.

A friend of Mr. Palmer, Dr. Harvey J. Howard, a specialist in eye diseases attached to the Rockefeller hospital at Peking, who was visiting the ranch, was taken prisoner by the brigands, and since then no trace of him has been found. It is supposed that Dr. Howard also was engaged in repelling the attack.

Five Escape Bandits.

Mr. Palmer's mother, Dr. Howard's son, and Harold Baldwin, formerly of Derby, Conn., and his wife and child made their escape.

The missing American was buried Tuesday night.

Couriers have been sent out in search of Dr. Howard, but have not yet reported.

The danger of further outrages of the same nature is not past, and measures are being taken as far as possible to protect other foreigners living in this district.

Won't Stop Parley, Please.

Washington, D. C., July 23.—(AP)—Officials here were manifestly distressed over the killing of one American and the capture of another yesterday by Chinese bandits, but there was no indication that the development would interrupt negotiations now in progress for a friendly effort, by the powers to keep China out of her domestic troubles.

Former comment on the raid on the Palmer ranch was withheld pending full official investigation. Meanwhile, however, American authorities in China are expected to take prompt measures to release Dr. Howard, the American held captive, and obtain the punishment of those responsible for his abduction and for the death of Morgan Palmer.

Went to China in 1912.

Pittsburgh, N. Y., July 23.—(AP)—Morgan Palmer, who was killed by bandits in Manchuria, was born in Pittsburgh 38 years ago, the son of Col. Franklin Palmer, a civil war veteran.

He was graduated at Harvard University in 1911 and went to China in 1912, joining the faculty of the college of Pao Ting Fu. Later he joined the staff of the British salt administration.

During the revolution in Russia he was sent to that country to learn if the Russian army was equipped with German guns. He was prevented by the Bolsheviks from leaving the country and escaped only with difficulty.

During the war he aided the American embassy in Peking. He also handled all Red Cross funds sent to China during the war.

Retreat Article.

Dr. Luther again refused to undertake the obligations under article 15 of the league covenant if Germany entered the league.

Dr. Luther assured the retreating that the government would leave nothing undone to ensure an era of real peace in Europe.

QUIT RED PARTY OR DROP UNION, MACHINISTS SAY

Officials Give Members 30 Days to Decide.

Norfolk, Va., July 23.—(AP)—Though details of the experiments were not known in naval circles here, a hasty examination of the target dropped at the naval base here this afternoon by the dirigible Shenandoah indicated the anti-aircraft gunners of the battleship Texas had met with a degree of success in firing tests held off the Virginia capes today.

The target, 50 feet long and representing a miniature dirigible, which had been towed over the Texas by the Shenandoah at an altitude of about 5,000 feet, showed a dozen or more holes apparently torn by fragments of bursting shells.

How many shots were fired by the Texas and under what conditions the gunners did not know here. The Shenandoah left Lakehurst this morning.

REICHSTAG VOTE SMOOTHES WAY FOR PEACE PLAN

Approves Cabinet's Foreign Policy.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Copyright: 1925, By The Chicago Tribune.

BERLIN, July 23.—The foreign policy of Chancellor Luther and Foreign Minister Stresemann received the official indorsement of the reichstag today by a vote of 231 to 154 after the radical elements' motion of no confidence in Herr Stresemann had been defeated by an overwhelming majority.

The Socialists had supported the government's security treaty policy in their speeches, joined the Fascists and communists in voting against the ministry. The vote is a victory for the security treaty proposal and advances local unions will be aired.

Attacks Railroad Board.

J. G. Luhresen, president of the American railroad workers' union, in his speech before their convention at the Edgewater Beach hotel urged the elimination of the United States railroad labor board. In the next breath he told the 250 delegates and association members how the dispatchers had been successful in obtaining wage boosts averaging $1.34 per man a month last year, or a total of $344.16. The convention will adjourn Saturday.

Balks at League Control.

The vote followed a series of speeches wherein the most important was that of Dr. Luther. The chancellor reiterated Dr. Stresemann's declarations of yesterday when he asserted:

"A definite settlement of the general questions now under discussion is possible only after all the questions connected with the disarmament problem and the evacuation of the northern Rhine land zone are adjusted satisfactorily. The so-called investigation of the protocol also does not fit in with the spirit of the new agreements now being sought."

Retreat Article.

Dr. Luther again refused to undertake the obligations under article 15 of the league covenant if Germany entered the league.

Dr. Luther assured the retreating that the government would leave nothing undone to ensure an era of real peace in Europe.

WARN'S FIREMEN TRUSTEES PERIL PENSION SYSTEM

New Managers Needed, Civic Body Says.

Members of the city fire department were warned in a bulletin issued by the Civic federation yesterday that they must seek better management of their pension fund or expect trouble.

"In pension matters," said a statement signed by Clayton Mark, president, and Douglas Sutherland, secretary, for the federation, "the firemen are suffering from extremely unscientific leadership in a period during which they have need of constructive help in order to save their pension fund."

Rap Attack on Reserve Plan.

"Their so-called actuary and accountant appeared before the senate revenue committee in Springfield on behalf of house bill 221, and indicated his disapproval of a sound reserve plan for the firemen's pension fund. The firemen must realize that if they are to continue to have any pension fund, it will be upon a sound reserve basis, along the lines laid down by the commission of the Illinois pension fund."

"The firemen's union ruling probably membership in the Trade Union Educational league and in the Workers' party, both directed by communist leaders."

Garnet Workers Dispute.

"The means employed by three active members of the department in lobbying for bills were particularly objectionable. Their expenses were paid out of the union's depleted pension fund, a sacred trust fund upon which depend the widows and orphans of dead firemen are largely or entirely dependent."

Arrangements have been made to handle thirty thousand visitors.

SHIPPING BOARD ASKS LEGAL AID ON FORD OFFER

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., July 23.—(Special)—Doubt has arisen among members of the shipping board as to whether the board may sell for scrapping ships found not to be obsolete or damaged. To remove that doubt, President Coolidge was asked to have the attorney general construe the merchant marine act of 1920, with reference to the sale of ships for scrapping.

Pending receipt of this opinion, the board will defer action on the recommendation of President Palmer of the Fleet corporation, that the board accept the bid of $1,708,000 for 200 ships submitted by the Ford Motor company.

A majority of the board, it was indicated, believes that they have the power, under the merchant marine act, to sell for scrapping ships deemed not necessary to the American merchant marine, but the request was made of the President to satisfy members who believe there is some question about the matter.

LEGION TRISTATE REUNION TO HAVE DIRIGIBLE VISIT

Sterling, Ill., July 23.—(Special)—The tax department has authorized the flight of a large dirigible from Scott field, Belleville, Ill., to Sterling on Aug. 6, the date of the tri-state American Legion convention and reunion.

Major Reed Landis, flying ace of Chicago, will head a flock of planes here on that date. Gov. Small, Senator Charles S. Deneen, and Congressman Henry Rathbone, and many Legion notables, including Hanford MacNider, Milton Foreman, and others, will be present. Twenty bands and drum corps, headed by the Racine, Wis., corps of sixty-seven pieces, world's champions, will be here.

Two young steers will be barbecue. There will be an aerial circus, auto and motorcycle races, auto polo, and baseball games, day and night parades.

Arrangements have been made to handle thirty thousand visitors.

Attacks Expenses Allowance.

Commenting on the methods used by the present trustees, the bulletin said:

MIDDLE WEST BEARS ONE-FIFTH OF SHOALS COST

Project to Cost 5 States Over $31,000,000.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 23.—[Special.]—Five middle western states, Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, Wisconsin and Iowa, have contributed enough to the project to make one-fifth of the cost of the huge Muscle Shoals project.

Out of the $164,000,000 which it is estimated, the entire Muscle Shoals development will cost when completed, something more than $31,000,000 will come from the taxpayers of these states. The Wilson dam and power house, which has just reached the stage of power production, has already cost more than $45,000,000 and its total cost is estimated at $51,000,000. Of this $51,000,000, nearly $31,000,000 was absorbed by this group of states.

Exact figures are not available, but western taxpayers have been assessed in order to develop this Alabama power and nitrate project are not available, but the amounts given represent approximately the portion which the states in question contribute to any governmental expenditure.

Pay 15 per cent of Revenues.

Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, Wisconsin and Iowa, combined, furnished 18.1 per cent of all internal revenue collections for the fiscal year 1924, the last year on which detailed figures are available. Total internal revenue collections in that year, including individual income and corporation taxes and various excises, were other miscellanea, total amount, $2,789,179,257.

Of this, Michigan taxpayers paid $221,380,000; Illinois, $214,340,722; Indiana, $45,787,807; Wisconsin, $40,448,722; and Iowa, $17,945,204, the aggregate of the five states being $539,932,260.

The internal revenue collections represented about 70 per cent of all ordinary receipts of the government during the fiscal year 1924. About half of the remaining 30 per cent consisted of customs receipts. Officials say that taxpayers of the various states contribute indirectly to customs duties in

ADVISES GIRLS TO ROLL THEIR HOSE AND GROW HEALTHIER

BATH, England, July 23.—[U. N.]—Roll your stockings, girls, make your dresses shorter and lower in the neck; or even bare your shoulders, if dresses, if you would be really healthy.

Dr. Leonard Hill, former member of the National Institute of Medical Research, so declared today when he advocated before the British Medical Association that long trousers and collars for men be abolished. Dr. Hill wants humanity to wear fewer clothes in the interests of health, since the fewer clothes the more skin area that can be exposed to the sunlight.

Girls are healthier than men because they wear low neck dresses, short skirts and artificial stockings, thus absorbing more ultra-violet rays. Exposure of the legs to sunlight lessens the tendency to varicose veins, he said.

their purchases of imported commodities probably at least as great a proportion of the total customs receipts as the same states furnish in direct taxes.

Illinois Share 7.6 Per Cent.

On the basis of the 1924 internal revenue collections the share of Illinois was 7.6 per cent; Michigan, 7.9 per cent; Indiana, 1.6 per cent; Wisconsin, 1.4 per cent, and Iowa, 0.8 per cent, the five totaling 19.1 per cent, or nearly one-fifth of all collections.

Assuming that 19.1 per cent gives, roughly, in idea of the share of the five middle western states in any governmental collection, the amount applied to estimated final costs would mean $31,160,000 out of the $164,000,000 which will be Uncle Sam's outlay when all work at Muscle Shoals, on various power and nitrate projects is completed. Using the same percentage, it would mean $9,890,000 as the share of these five states in the construction of the Wilson dam and power house.

Illinois taxpayers will have contributed the best part of these percentages $5,874,000 toward the $221,380,000 toward the entire Muscle Shoals project; Michigan taxpayers, $40,448,722 toward Wilson dam and $12,956,600 for all Muscle Shoals; Indiana taxpayers, $18,160,000 toward Wilson dam, and $2,624,000 toward all Muscle Shoals; Wisconsin taxpayers, $17,945,204 toward Wilson dam and $2,296,000 toward all Muscle Shoals, and Iowa taxpayers, $306,000 toward Wilson dam and $934,000 toward all Muscle Shoals.

"He wants me to marry him. I don't know what is against your principles because I do not think I am bad."

"But at the same time, my mother does this thing in a manner that I do not like. I should like to hear from you, for the professor you have mentioned is very old and his age and quality and the like."

"That, of course, is possible."

"Then let me assure you that Veronica came out to us yesterday and told us the entire story from her viewpoint. His commercial tentativeness had been directed behind the window."

"The cold displeasure apparently was gone. Her violet eyes were not unkind."

"You must be nearly up by now," she said, "getting up so early, or I should never have seen you."

"Hunger never bothers me," Luigi announced. "I have had a hearty breakfast and host and hostess had learned to know me well enough to let me eat my fill. I excused myself on the ground that I had to get back to the boat in the launch and left him."

"Then, toward evening, Pol got back. Leaving the boat at his Italian colony, he made his way to the city."

Poli carried a large wicker bag up to the stone steps, cut across the roadside, he made two inquiries about the premises, and proclaimed their pretty caretaker pleased with them.

Poli did not require to be summoned again. He came quickly and hurried out a broken soufflé of the premises. Her face was pale, and her taurous hair heaved in a fit of convulsive coughing. Pol observed that her slender youthfulness had been marred by the exertion in that first glance, it was evident to him that she had been ill in this promenade. It was difficult to tell whether she was fierce and orthodox here or whether she was a gentle girl could have been pleased with him.

Catching sight of Pol, he lifted up at the prospect of his return, now able to speak again. "I am not well," he said. "I am not well, but I am not dead yet. I am not dead yet, but I am not dead yet."

She presented, therefore, a picture of a woman who was evidently aside.

"Good afternoon," he said, smiling broadly.

"And eggs and things, and peaches?"

"Sure," she answered, smiling.

"You don't seem to trust me."

"O, it ain't the neighbor."

"Are you going out?"

"No chance," she answered.

"I ride in the flies and paper one thing I got to do, and that is—"

"Why don't you go, too?"

"And get all messed up?"

"Never mind," said Pol, "days will come when you will have a car of your own."

"Not if I know it. I'm on my own."

"To do what?" Pol asked.

"She gave him a speech, and he was to be grand."

"What sort of an office?"

"Stenographer or private secretary," he said.

"Where does that get me?"

"Keep papa's accounts and wait on him and drive the car. And—"

"It does sound pretty strong."

"A bawlin' out when a man comes along, only he's got my name."

"What's his job?" Pol asked.

"Sub-contractor. He on."

The BOBCAT
BY HENRY C. ROWLAND

SYNOPSIS.
Mr. Tim Burke, real estate operator, and known to his associates as a land pirate, is one of his young lieutenants called Pol Gaillard, because he is irritated by the youth's sleekness of appearance and nonchalant manner. Pol learns his ex-boyhood comrade has a piece of Long Island property owned by Professor Husted and that another boy, Michael Cadigan, is after the same bit of land. Cadigan lives on the shore of Lake Michigan, working with his stepmother, Veronica, across the bay from Professor Husted. The lake looks like a river. Veronica has only visited Cadigan since she was a girl calling on the old man, intimating that he would consider no harm her son did him. She has a sleep anchored opposite the house. Veronica suggests to the youth that he call on the owner. They are invited on board and their host introduces himself as Gaillard, posing as an itinerant poet and artist. That night Pol goes over to the lake house and while he is asleep his sleep is cut off. The next night he and Veronica return to Professor Husted's house. On leaving Pol discovers that his boat has been stolen. The professor invites Pol to his home and he accepts, although he is able to return his boat. Pol does this for the Cadigans. His host offers him five thousand dollars to get Professor Husted to sell him his land. Pol refuses.

POL GOES A-FORAGING.

Cadigan's heavy jaw seemed to bulge a little at its angles, and his cold, penitent eyes had a glassy look as he asked Pol why he refused his offer.

"If I had made no promise to the professor, I should still find it utterly impossible to accept the hospitality of such a man offered to me when in distress, then use it as a fulcrum to pry him loose from ancestral acres that he has no desire nor necessity for selling, and to my considerable profit."

"You are punctilious," Cadigan's voice was smooth enough, but there lurked in it a sneer of disbelief.

Sedentary Workers
Need Daily Activity
If They'd Progress

"The kind of girl who gets on in our organization?" Miss X. repeated my query.

"There she is over at that desk by the window! She was promoted this morning!" answered the head of a department in a large manufacturing concern.

"An outdoor girl." I volunteered after a look at the healthy tanned face and the up-on-her-toes step as she carried a paper over to an adjoining desk.

"That girl is an outdoor girl. She was living in town at a girl's club during the winter. In the early spring she took a room out in the country far from the beach, so she just moved out. She goes swimming every morning or plays golf—gets up at 4 o'clock. She's a wonderful girl. I'm afraid we are going to lose her, though. She is going to be married."

It's the healthy ones they want in business—not only in business, either. Recent quiet news distributed among university students shows the modern young man in quest of marriage asking health as the first requisite in the girl he will choose.

So, you see, Miss Business Woman, whether you are in business for a year or for life, sparkling health is the commodity that is going to win you success.

In this short series of talks to business girls I have already pointed out the importance of choosing the right kind of food to fit your well and enthusiastic about your job.

Today we'll talk exercise. The trouble with most of us women workers is our readiness to adapt that extremely poor "lack of time" excuse to ourselves. We do have time for what we want to do. The busiest people always have more time to grant an interview, or do a favor, than the other kind. You know that as well as I. The secret is in good management.

We may not all be able to go to the country and swim, and play golf every morning, but there isn't one of us but wastes ten or fifteen minutes a day—yes, in the early morning—that we could adapt to keeping ourselves fit and fine. If business men insist upon health and the physical attractiveness that goes with it in women employees, and young men ask for it in their wives, you can back up yourself in investigation. We are pretty poor managers if we can't rescue that quart-

BEAUTY ANSWERS

V. G. G. FAT FREE CREAMS are not so effective as a fatty application in softening the skin. Those are free from the objection as fat. They clean satisfactorily and make a good base for powder to protect the skin against burning and tanning. Here is a good formula: Tragacanth, 80 grains; glycerin, ½ ounce; boric acid, ½ ounce; oil of bergamot, 5 drops; oil of rose, 1 drop; oil of lavender, 2 drops, and water to make one pint. Dissolve thoroughly with moderate heat.

cise and what to eat, that you may cover up some of those bones which you are too anxious about and worry. Above all, stop worrying about your weight, dear.

ter of an hour a day and use it to make yourself in the running.

I have a lot of exercises designed especially to help the business woman fit. Her work, as I have already pointed out, being of sedentary nature, she must have some form of daily activity to keep her mentally and physically alert. These exercises will do it. As I have them ready for mailing in illustrated pamphlet form, I will ask that you send me a stamped addressed envelope for them. Ask for my "Youth Preservers." They are all of that.

On Board S. S. Aquitania.—[Special Correspondence.] — The handsome youth today's drawing is not illustrating the emancipation of man from the collar and tie plague. This has not yet come to pass. He is pictured thus in comfortable negligee because that is the way I saw him on the boat deck, giving himself a good sunning, doubtless trying to acquire a tan before he reached European shores. The reason I have singled him out for observation is that he serves as a good example of a point I like to bring out every now and then, which is a matter of

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Detroit, Mich., July 23.—[Special.]

A few well placed hits and some de fuses rescuing by Sergt. George Connally proved a formidable com bination today and the White Sox slapped down the sows with a spiritual victory. Tygers by 4 to 2, the first of a four game series.

Boss Collins' fellows were so careful with their hits that they made seven out of ten produce a dividend in the shape of a run. Mixed with the timely and numerous passes, not to mention for Tyger errors, to make the day complete, the Chicagoans defeated the Cobblers, 10—4, only one boot being made to disturb the life saving Connally.

SOKES 3 Runs in First.

The Sox started to operate at the plate in the first inning by bunching four hits for three runs off old George

Davis, who is curving out his thirteenth year in the big tent. Undaunted by that handicap, the Cobblers came right back with three in their half,

and it was this sortie that forced Connally to hustle to the front in aid of Hollis Thurston, who had suddenly decided to feel the enemy with his show steers.

Once Connally took charge, the Tygers were a different crew. They waded their sprunge abruptly in the second frame and sailed on beautifully to the finish, only one run and one hit being made of his assorted benders. Meanwhile his own mates had shoved over a lone tally in the third and clinched it in the sixth with four runs that necessitated the removal of

Davis and also inspired the bugs to how loudly at their one time favorite,

Terry Raymond Cobb.

Detroit Fans Raze Cobb.

It was not much of a day for Ty.

A ball got through him in the first inn. and it started the Sox on their way to three runs. He committed no further blunders in the field.

But he did nothing in four attempts at bat and when he popped out in the seventh and the fans gave him a particularly healthy ram he retired to the seclusion of the dugout and was seen no more. As a manager he is not well thought of.

Thurston looked good in the first inn.

and was C. K. in the second, until two more runs rolled in.

Then he walked a couple and yielded three scoring. The Sox were ahead again when Connally doubled

Kamm home in the third and the Tygers evened it again in the fifth on a scratch hit, two passes and some out, but Connally kept them completely in check at other times.

The incident that started the Sox to victory in the sixth was a pass to

Cobb, who never up when Connally sacrificed. Harrington batted for Moell and was hit by a pitched ball.

Davis drove one of those jack rabbit balls back at Davis and it caromed off his glove for a single, filling the bases. A hit by Collins left two men home, a single by Sheely scored another, and the fourth and last of the round crossed the plate on Falk's long fly.

Chicago's chief executive will pull the cannon from board Rear Commodore Philip D. Wrigley's power cruiser.

The handicaps under which all boats will race and final instructions to skipper the crews of all yachts entered in the 231 mile run to the City of the Straits will be given tonight by Chairman George Armbrust of the race committee at a meeting to be held in the Grant park clubhouse of the Chicago Yacht club.

Polaris II. Scratch Boat.

The figures compiled by the committee made James O. Heyworth's big sloop Polaris II, the scratch boat. George D. Orr's small cruiser Fame gets the biggest allowance of all entries, with an advantage of 10:41:44.

All kinds of bear stories were emanating from the cabins of the big entries with the exception of Fred A. Price's class sloop Celeritas. The most bearish of all stories comes from the gatings of the scratch boat, which has apparently the biggest chance of coping.

Doubt Some Chances.

Of course, the local yachtsmen are discounting a lot of these complaints. If half of these things should pan out, it might give Celeritas, O'Rourke's Intruder, and some of the other sloops a chance to figure in as a winning boat.

On the other hand, Fred A. Price announces that Celeritas is in perfect condition.

From Jackson park, where John O'Rourke holds forth with his 30 class sloop Intruder, silence reigns.

LOTT BEATEN IN STRAIGHT SETS BY WRAY BROWN

TODAY'S PROGRAM

FOURTH ROUND, MEN'S DOUBLES.
W. L. Buckley-White and Thalheim vs. Norton and Kinney. Johnson and Snodgrass vs. Tilden and Wiener vs. winner of first match.

SEMI-FINALS, WOMEN'S SINGLES.
Miss Marian Leighton, Chicago, vs. Miss Charlotte Hosmer, Berkeley, Cal.

BY HOWARD ROBERTS.

An upset which broke the hearts of local net fans killed Chicago's last hope in the Illinois state tennis tournament yesterday when Wray Brown, of St. Louis, ranking twenty-second among the national stars, spelled the dope for the second time in as many days and overwhelmed George Lott Jr., who last week fought Champion Bill Tilden through five wild sets. The score was 6-1, 6-2.

It was all Brown from the start and the local title holder never had a chance. Lott was off form, as he has been all week, while the St. Louis boy was playing brilliant tennis, outshining Lott on nearly every point. Brown Starts Fast.

Brown started out like a whirlwind, taking the first two games of the first set with ease. Lott rallied to win the third game. It was only a flash, however, and Wray romped through the next four games for the set, only one game going to deuce.

The St. Louis lad kept up his terrific play in the second set, winning the first three games. Lott scoring the fourth, 6-4, 6-4. Lott took the next two and the last set, gallery of the week cheered. The cheers turned to groans, however, when Brown ran out the match, leaving the crowd gaping and wondering how it happened. Brown is now in the semi-finals where he meets Bill Johnston Saturday. The point score:

...442 464 5-6
Lott 024 241 0-1

...442 464 5-6
Lott 113 573 41-2

Little Bill won his way into that select group composing the semi-final bracket by defeating Brian I. C. Norton and his smile, 6-4, 6-3, in a match crowded with more spectacular tennis, from the crowd's point of view, yet seen during the tournament. Practically every point was featured by a long rally of ten or forehand and backhand drives to the base lines. Kinney meets Tilden in a semi-final.

H. Kinney Beats Hayes.

Another Chicago favorite was beaten when the veteran Walter Hayes, who has been playing flashes of the brand of tennis which made him one of the most feared players in the country ten years ago, lost to Howard Kinsey 6-4, 6-2. The coast star simply ran the leg weary with shots to the corners of the base line. Kinney meets Tilden in a semi-final.

TUCKY CARDINAL WINS C.A.A. PURSE BY GREAT FINISH

BY FRENCH LANE.

Kentucky Cardinal, the $50,000 colt which failed G. Frank Croissant in the last running of the Kentucky Derby and since then in all his trips to the post has failed to look the judges in the eye, came into his own at Hawthorne, winning the Chicago Athletic Association handicap at six furlongs. In a seasonally run race Kentucky Cardinal came with terrific speed in the stretch to lead Rival and Oh Susanna to the wire. The first seven race card decided at Hawthorne in many years brought the start of the local racing forces and, with bad weather on the part of the best sport of the season made up the offering.

Buck Ties Truck Record.

It was one of those Croissant days, far off from Kentucky Cardinal's brilliant triumph, his Buck, recently purchased from Edward R. Badley, set the track record at 1:44 2/5 when he stepped to victory in the mile and a sixteenth. The Manor purse, the secondary feature.

Buck, like Kentucky Cardinal, won his battle to the finish, starting sort of a finish, after he had made the move from the time the barrier lifted. Flagstaff, from Jimmy McGill's Denver stable, and Georgie, owned by Col. Bob Baker of Kentucky, crawled up inch by inch until they finished closely lapped in that order.

Favorite Beaten.

Except in the two features favorites had a tough time of it, the 2 year old Tom P. upsetting the dope in the opener when he showed his heels to Jessie Lee and Elk Crest; while the weak hearted Riviera got out in front in the second and it was one race in which she failed to quit. The popular choice, Talequa, was never better than third. Battlemente, having finishing in

The Chatter Box purse, third on the program, found the heavily supported Morning Cloud falling by the wayside. Polynesta getting away to a fine start and easily holding Contusion and Morning Cloud safe. The latter pair split up second and third money.

Long Shot Wins.

In the sixth race, the extreme outside Proceeds was the winner, with Berger second. Billy Starr was third and might have been much nearer the leader with a more energetic ride. Bill Weant's Elias O. came parading home in the last, with Fausto second and Louis A. third. Fausto was the early leader, but pulled in the stretch.

Frank Worthy came into his own when he took the 21st place, winning the first two heats and finishing second in the final mile. Summaries:

REPORTS REVEAL IMPROVEMENT IN STEEL INDUSTRY

BY O. A. MATHER.

How much better the steel industry is faring this summer than a year ago is shown in the Bethlehem Steel corporation's quarterly statement issued yesterday. President E. G. Grace said current production is up 30 per cent above a year ago and the value of orders on hand on June 30, $50,342,213, compared with $40,938,938 last year.

While there has been some decline in orders since last spring, this is largely due to seasonal slackness in railroad buying. The present demand, however, is 60 per cent of capacity, there is no accumulation of stocks and an early autumn demand is expected that will require a substantial increase in output. Prices appear to be stabilized and the general outlook is healthy, according to Mr. Grace.

Ears $1.21 on Common.

Bethlehem's net earnings for the second quarter of this year were $7,058,525, equivalent, after charges and preferred dividends, to $1.21 a share on the common stock. This compares with $7,400,894, or only 11 cents a share, a year ago, and with $10,339,315, or $1.66 a share, in the first quarter of this year.

For the first six months of this year earnings were equivalent to $2.77 a share. Operations in the second quarter averaged 67.1 per cent of capacity, compared with 47.1 a year ago and 77.45 in the first quarter.

The Youngstown Sheet and Tube company reported net income of $7,120,461 for the first half of this year, equivalent after preferred dividends to $6.70 a share on the common stock, compared with $5,610,537, or $5.18 a share, for the first half of 1924. Net income for the second quarter of this year was $4,224,33, compared with $1,857,878 a year ago and $5,656,626 in the first quarter of this year.

U. S. Steel Galas Expected.

On the basis of these reports the United States Steel corporation, which derives large earnings from industries distinct from steel making, is expected next Tuesday to report net earnings between $30,000,000 and $41,000,000 for the second quarter. This would be equivalent to about $2.40 a share on the common stock.

Net earnings for the first quarter of yesterday's report of the Gulf States Steel corporation, however, was disappointing. Net income for the second quarter was $17,145, equal after preferred dividends to $1.09 a share on the common stock, compared with $18,041, or $1.35 a share, a year ago and with $26,247, or $2.88 a share, in the first quarter of this year. Net for the first half of this year was equivalent to $35,882,952, or $3.52 a share.

Federal Bank Losses Drop.

While there is no present dearth of money or credit and no immediate prospect of higher interest rates, interior banks can find fair employment for funds at better than 4 per cent. Therefore, they are inclined to withdraw their balances from New York when the stock exchange market is below 4 per cent.

The explanation of recently flat stock market rates is borne out by the weekly report of the federal reserve system.

Loans of the whole system have declined $12,317,000 in the last week, with practically no change in New York. Open market bids declined $36,804,000, and government securities, $9,173,000; and earning assets, $23,554,000. Gold and total reserves remained stable at approximately 500,000,000. Gold and total reserves remained stable at approximately 500,000,000.

Deposits dropped $31,882,000, with member bank reserve credits declining $34,853,000 and government deposits increasing $2,066,000.

Of the decrease in deposits, $9,021,000 occurred in New York. For the system, note circulation declined $2,757,000.

The ratio of returns to liabilities rose to 77.1 from 76.1 per cent in the preceding week.

Government Reports Increase in Lamb Crop

An increase of 5.5 per cent in the lamb crop compared with last year is shown by the June 1 survey made by the department of agriculture. The increase is due largely to gains in the so-called native sheep states, the western states showing a decrease. The tendency to expand is most marked in native farm flocks and in small flocks in the western states.

As compared with 1924 native states show 12.2 per cent as many lambs on farms, and western states, 97.7 per cent. The increase in the native states may be attributed to considerable extent to the increased number of farmers handling sheep. In many states over 15 per cent of the returns were from farmers who reported no lambs raised last year.

U. S. Protests Ending Packers' Trusteeship

Washington, D. C., July 23.—(P)—Opposition was expressed by the department of justice today against the action of the District of Columbia Supreme court in relieving the Ammons, a prominent group of packers from trusteeship imposed by the packers' consent decree. The consent decree which was designed to separate the packers from unrelated units of business, has been suspended by court order and the government has appealed. Justice Bailey, however, has discharged the trustees and ordered the return by them of stocks, bonds and other holdings to the packers.

Insull Offers Stock in Libertyville Bank

Samuel Insull, utilities magnate, has invited business men of Libertyville to take stock in a state bank he is to establish there. A limit of five shares has been placed on the purchases of each person and several have subscribed. Associates of Mr. Insull said the bank will make a specialty of loans to home builders when the expected boom develops with the opening of the new electric line to Mundelein and Libertyville.

Choice 100¢/220 lb averages topped at $14.35, with sorted 150 lb averages at $14.20. Best 255 lb butchers reached $14.25 and 225 lb averages $14.20. Receipts at 14,000 were 4,000 below the advance estimate and 30 per cent smaller than the supply the previous Thursday. Lambs Bring $13.50.
Additional advances in lamb values brought the top sale of western ranges up to $15.25, the highest in more than a week and $6 above the peak price Monday. Bulk brought $13.00/15.25. Best native sorts topped at $14.75, with bulk at $14.50/14.75. Good strong weight cuts were $11.50/12.00. Market for killing sheep continued to wane, despite the recent price increase, and demand down 25¢/ton, forcing top 11 lb fed western ewes to $13.50, against $13.00 Monday and Tuesday. Feeding and breeding sheep were in good demand at firm prices.
Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 2,000 cattle, 16,000 hogs, and 12,000 sheep, against 3,484 cattle, 20,784 hogs, and 6,145 sheep the corresponding Friday a year ago.
